

The Great Gatsby Bookblog¹

For each chapter, you need to create a bookblog entry that includes the following features:

- 1 textual observation² on the role of the American Dream in the novel, either how it is functioning for a particular character/situation or how it figures into Fitzgerald's argument in the novel
- 1 textual observation on character development
- 1 textual observation about the use of color (symbolism, meaning, etc)

You may find that a dialectical journal format works well for this, though I leave form up to you as long as it contains the elements listed above.

DON'T FALL BEHIND! THERE WILL BE A TEST...

¹ A bookblog is a booklog done on your blog. I have no idea if it's a real word; I made it up this morning. I do not claim originality though. I imagine it's been coined before today. 😊

² For the purpose of this assignment, textual observation refers to an analytical comment rooted in a specific text. Please provide the page number and include the actual text if possible (sometimes it is too long). There are a number of sites that contain the full text of The Great Gatsby.
